

Ireland Falls! Nigeria Rises!

Well, I have both bad news and good news this morning. The bad news comes from Ireland and I am somewhat interested because I am of Irish descent myself: my father was Irish. And, according to the news from Reuters, they say that "Irish voters appear to have voted heavily in favor of allowing same-sex marriage in a historic referendum in the traditionally Catholic country." Now it's interesting that they say "in the traditionally Catholic country". When the Supreme Court in the United States okays legalized marriage in June, I wonder if they will say "in the traditionally Protestant country"? There seems to be a little discrimination there against Catholics! "Government ministers and opponents of The Bill said on Saturday 'final results are not expected until later in the day in the poll which could make Ireland the first country to adopt same-sex marriage by a popular vote'."

But, as I say, I have some good news to report. Yesterday, several women told me that a Nigerian Bishop received an amazing vision from Almighty God late last year about how to defeat Boko Haram. The Lord appeared to him and offered him a sword and when the Bishop accepted the sword it instantaneously turned into a Rosary and Jesus said "Boko Haram is gone. Boko Haram is gone. Boko Haram is gone." He said it three times and then he disappeared.

Now I'm going to play a brief excerpt from this clip because it is an amazing testimony on the part of this Nigerian Bishop and where Ireland is failing Nigeria is rising.

"So I was there before the Blessed Sacrament praying the Rosary and then, suddenly the Lord appeared and I saw Him. Clearly this is Jesus with a sword in his own hand and I started trembling. I said "Lord, what is this?" He didn't say anything, he just stretched out his arms with the sword in his hands towards me and then I also stretched my hands and received the sword. As soon as I received the sword it turned into the Rosary, it turned into the Rosary. Then, the Lord now spoke: 'Boko Haram is gone. Boko Haram is gone. Boko Haram is gone.' Three times he said that and then he disappeared."

Earlier this year it was reported that Nigeria had asked the United States government for help in defeating Boko Haram, however, the Obama Administration refused unless Nigeria relaxed its laws against homosexuality and Nigeria refused. However, as you can see, Almighty God is going to protect Nigeria. They do not need the United States. Unlike Ireland, which has thrown in its lot with Satan, Nigeria will pray Mary's Rosary and defeat the forces of the Antichrist as I have said many times on this program. Now be sure to click on the link below and watch the Bishop's amazing complete testimony.
