

Will You Join Jesus at Armageddon?

This is a continuation of my last program where I talked about the 4 groups who will survive into the Millennium, and I asked you a question: will you be captured or will you be raptured? The next question I want to ask on this program is: will you be at the battle of Armageddon with Jesus as he fights against all the nations of the world? And, I want to point out that not all 4 groups who survive into the Millennium will be at the battle of Armageddon. In fact, there are quite a few places in the Bible where only 3 of the 4 groups are singled out.

Before I get into that I want to address questions that I get constantly when I talk about the 4 groups who survive into the Millennium; for example, an Orthodox will ask me 'why am I not included with the Catholics?' Or a Catholic will say 'why can't I be raptured with the Protestants?' Well, let me say this, I am a Catholic myself and I would like to be raptured also, but, God may have different plans for each one of us; he may want us to be martyred, for example, that is, captured instead of raptured. As I've said before, everyone on earth should be able to qualify for one of the 4 groups as long as you refuse to take the Mark of the Beast.

Now, let's look at the 4 groups the way I have set it up for this program, and that is I have given them a color coding; for example, the raptured Protestants I am going to do in green. The protected Catholics are going to be singled out in blue. The holy martyrs will be red and the converted Jews will be in a violet color, and I do this not to add or change scripture; I know I will be accused of that; rather, I am interpreting scripture. I am trying to make it easier for you to see where these 4 groups are found.

So now, let's take a look at the first instance, and that is the battle of Armageddon, because at Armageddon, as I said, only 3 of the 4 groups will be included, and, these 3 groups are described in two different places in the Bible. Let's first look at Matthew, chapter 24, verse 31: 'And he shall send his angels with a great sound of trumpet.' Now, right off the bat, we know that this, for example, cannot be the Rapture because there are no trumpets that sound at the Rapture; instead, this is Jesus gathering his armies for Armageddon. 'And they shall gather them together his elect from the four winds' (this group would be the Catholics who are left behind. That's why they are gathered under the four winds, that is north, south, east and west) from one end of heaven (in one end of heaven are the raptured Protestants; that's where they are located) and to the other end of heaven.' In the other end of heaven would be, of course, the holy martyrs.

Now, let's look at Revelation 17, verse 14: 'These shall make war with the Lamb and the Lamb shall overcome them'. The 'these' in this passage refer to all the nations of the world; by the way, that includes the nation of Israel. Remember, Israel, the state of Israel, will apostatize. 'And the Lamb shall overcome them for he is Lord of Lords and King of Kings: and they that are with him are called (these would be the raptured Protestants; that's because they are called to the marriage supper of the Lamb) and chosen (the 'chosen', that word means the same as the 'elect' as above, the elect refer to the protected Catholics) and the faithful.' The 'faithful' would be those who are faithful until death; in other words, they are the holy martyrs.

So, to answer the question; 'will you be at Armageddon?', you could if you belong to one of those 3 groups. Please note, the converted Jews are not at the battle of Armageddon; and I believe the reason is, as Jesus says, they will flee into the mountains of Judea. In other words, they will not be anywhere near the Plains of Megiddo which is where Armageddon takes place, that is, a short distance north of Jerusalem.

And now, let's look at another set of permutations and combinations where 3 groups are singled out but not all 4 of those who survive into the Millennium, and that is where John describes 144,000. There are 3 groups which are different than the other 4, in other words, a different group is not numbered. In Revelation 7, verse 4: 'And I heard the number of them which were sealed and there were sealed 144,000 of all the tribes of the children of Israel.' So obviously, this group of 144,000 would be the converted Jews, but they are not the same as the next group of 144,000.

Revelation 14, verse 1: 'And I looked, and see, a Lamb (of course that would be Jesus) stood on mount Zion (Jesus is here returning for the battle of Armageddon) and with him 144,000 (this is a different group) having his father's name written on their foreheads.' This group is the holy martyrs and we know because if we check out Revelation 20, verse 4, they are described as beheaded because they refuse to take the Mark of the Beast on their foreheads. Therefore, they have the mark of Jesus on their foreheads instead.

And now, in Revelation 14, verse 3 of Revelation: 'And they sung, as it were, a new song(this is a different group. Singing ability always in Revelation points to the raptured Protestants, they are known for this) before the throne, and before the four beasts and the elders: and no man could learn that song (this is a new song because this is the youngest of the three denominations that we are speaking about) no man could learn that song but the 144,000 which were redeemed from the earth.' That word 'redeemed' here means 'raptured'. Some Bibles say 'purchased', thus, 'redeemed from the earth' means 'raptured from the earth'.

So, which of the 4 groups was left out? It's interesting, but John never mentions how many protected Catholics there will be. Will there also be 144,000? Will there be a significantly greater number? It's very interesting and to tell the truth, I do not know the answer. I do not know all of the answers to questions found in the Bible. This is one of the many questions I personally will ask the prophets Enoch and Elijah when they make their public appearance, and, as you know, I believe that Enoch and Elijah have already returned to Earth along with the False Prophet and the Antichrist. I believe all four End Times personalities are just waiting to appear on the scene. And, as I said, I will have a lot of questions for Enoch and Elijah, and one of them is, how many protected Catholics will there be? Now, I admit 144,000 is a symbolic number, but, nonetheless, that is really only a tiny remnant. I hope there are more of each group and I hope there are many more Catholics.

Now, let's look at the 3 of the 4 groups who not only survive into the Millennium but also survive the Antichrist, in other words, they are not martyred. Will you be among this group? In Daniel 11, verse 41: 'He shall enter also into the glorious land (this refers to the Antichrist, that's the 'he'. The 'glorious land' is Jerusalem. It's interesting to note that not only will the Antichrist set up his capital in Jerusalem, but I believe that when America is defeated, the United Nations will also move to Jerusalem, and, in fact, I believe when the Catholic Church is trodden under by the Gentiles, the Vatican will move to Jerusalem. Jerusalem will be the capital of the One-World Communist tyranny.

And, of course, the converted Jews will have to flee from Jerusalem into the mountains. Don't forget, when Jesus comes against all the nations of the world that will include the nation of Israel. 'And many countries shall be overthrown (in fact, all the countries are overthrown by the Antichrist) but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom, and Moab and the chief of the children of Ammon.' This is very interesting. How can the Antichrist control the entire world but not capture Edom, Moab and Ammon? Edom and Moab do not even exist anymore, and Ammon is the capital of Jordan. Obviously, these are symbolic terms.

But, what do they mean? They refer to the 3 groups we have been talking about who escape the Antichrist. Edom is another name for Esau, it symbolizes 'red', and that means he was a 'redneck', he was an outdoorsman. This refers to the Catholics who will go into the desert. They must flee from the Antichrist. They will be protected there mainly by Mary and her Rosary and her Scapular.

Now, Moab and Ammon were sons which Lot had by his own two daughters. Moab was his son by his eldest daughter and therefore he symbolizes the eldest of these religious denominations and that would be the converted Jews. Ammon was the son which Lot had by his youngest daughter and therefore he symbolizes the youngest of these denominations and that would be the raptured Protestants.

And now, let's look at where these same 3 groups are found in the Old Testament as symbolized by Shadach, Meshach and Abednego in the fiery furnace. I mentioned in the last program the fiery furnace is heated 7 times hotter than normal. That '7 times' indicates the 7 years of tribulation. In order to understand which groups they represent, we need to look at their Hebrew names. In other words, Shadrach was originally Hananiah which means 'God is gracious'. That refers to the great grace that Protestants will receive to be raptured.

Meshach's original name in Hebrew was Mishael, which means 'who is like God'. Since that is a theological concept, he prefigures the converted Jews. And the third son of Juda who was in the fiery furnace was Abednego; his Hebrew name was Azariah and that means 'God helps'. He symbolizes the protected Catholics. Don't forget, in Revelation, the 'woman' flees into the desert and she receives help from the earth which protects her from the flood which comes out of the dragon's mouth. Therefore, Azarius symbolizes the protected Catholics.

Will you be in one of these 3 groups? Will you be at the battle of Armageddon? I hope that all of us survive into the Millennium one way or another. We should not be surprised at all this symbolism in End Times Bible prophecy. Remember, there are three characteristics in hermeneutics as far as End Times prophecy goes: the first is symbolism, in other words the symbolic interpretation takes precedence over the literal interpretation. Second is numerology; numerology is extremely important in understanding what God is trying to tell us.

And third, you need a co prophet, someone to interpret Scripture. And the reason is because End Times Bible prophecy is a work of the Holy Spirit and the Holy Spirit always requires two people. For example, 'speaking in tongues', not only requires the person who is speaking in tongues but also someone to interpret. As Saint Paul says: 'speaking in tongues has no edification for the church if someone is not there to interpret.' In conclusion, I had hoped to do another program on Elenin before the alignment next week and I hope to get to that in my next program but I really wanted to conclude this program on the 4 groups who will survive into the Millennium.
