

Prophecy of Pope Assassination?

I am going to skip my usual introduction, because this is a very brief program about the meeting, several weeks ago between Pope Francis, our new pope, and Pope Emeritus, Pope Benedict. And they met at the summer residence of the pope's, near Rome at Castel Gandolfo. And one of my subscribers pointed out to me, in this news report, a very strange painting that is evidently in the chapel at Castel Gandolfo. And both popes went into this chapel to pray in front of Our Lady of Czestochowa, also known as the Black Madonna.

And in this clip, you will see this very strange painting of a priest being killed, being shot in the back and I'm wondering and, as my subscriber wondered, is this a prophecy of one of these two popes? Let's take a look.

We first notice this painting here at the top of your screen, right behind Pope Francis when the two popes, Pope Francis and Pope Benedict Emeritus enter the chapel at Castel Gandolfo to pray in front of the Black Madonna.

Later on, as the two popes are praying in front of Our Lady of Czestochowa, in the chapel, we see this rather strange painting on the upper left hand side of your screen. Maybe I can zoom in a little bit, on this artwork.

Certainly, it appears as if this is a painting of a priest dressed in a white surplus, being shot in the back by these soldiers on the left. Of course, this image of a priest, being shot in the back, immediately brings to mind the prophecy of the third secret of Fatima, where a bishop dressed in white is shot in the back by bows and arrows and by bullets. Is this painting, a prefiguring of what may happen to one of these popes, Pope Benedict or Pope Francis? (1) I think all of us need to be praying a great deal for our two popes.

1) Currently, I believe that Pope Benedict XVI is the prophesied 'Bishop in White'.
