

ITALY'S EARTHQUAKE AND END TIMES BIBLE PROPHECY

On this program I want to talk about earthquakes, because Jesus said earthquakes would be a sign of his second coming. We have already had a half dozen or so major earthquakes this year in 2009; several in Indonesia, one in Costa Rica, and, of course, the latest one in Italy. These have all been severe earthquakes, and deadly earthquakes, and Jesus said, in Matthew chapter 24, that His second coming would be marked by - earthquakes in diverse places - .

Now to understand what Jesus meant by that, let's go back to the Gospel of Saint Luke: in chapter 19 of Saint Luke, Jesus rides triumphantly into the city of Jerusalem. The people shout out - Hosanna, Son of David - and they throw palms in front of His path. Some of the scribes and Pharisees complain to Jesus' disciples, they want Him to stop the people from shouting out - Hosanna, Son of David - , and Jesus makes a very interesting comment: He says: - If these should hold their peace, the rocks would immediately cry out - . I think this has significance for the end times.

If you have ever been in an earthquake, you know that it is very noisy, because the rocks are crying out! As the plates of the earth's crust rub against each other, they make a lot of noise. So the earthquakes in diverse places are announcing Jesus' return. In other words, the rocks are crying out. But why do the rocks cry out? Very simple, because the Pastors and the people are NOT crying out. We should be crying out just like the people in Jerusalem, - Hosanna, Son of David - .

We should be welcoming Jesus' second return which is imminent ! But since the people are NOT crying out, therefore the rocks have to cry out. It should be obvious that the earthquakes are going to increase in intensity and in number. Jesus has already started His return to Planet Earth. If we, and that is the Pastors and the people, do not start shouting out: - Hosanna Son of David - , if we do not start out welcoming Jesus second coming to Earth, at the rapture, and His third coming at Armageddon, then the earthquakes are going to get louder and louder, the rocks are going to continue crying out !
