

Down Goes (O)Bama

I'm going to skip my usual beginning and ending to this video because this will be very short. In fact I don't usually do videos on Sunday. Yesterday, I believe we received a very important prophecy from Almighty God that Barack Obama's life may be in danger and today I'm urging prayers for our President.

Yesterday as you know, the number one college football team Alabama was defeated by Texas A&M; in a tremendous upset. And if you check out the Internet everyone is saying 'Down goes Bama.' Do a google search and you will see what I mean. I believe what God is telling us is 'down goes Obama' and that means we need prayers for our President.

I'm not saying that this is necessarily an assassination attempt or maybe even an accident or of health issues or something else that may inflict our President. It may be something political like an impeachment but in any case, I believe we need prayers for Mr. Obama and for our country now more than ever. We need to ask God to bless America.
